The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

School Board Choices Listed

The current crop of candidates for various school boards in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area is made up of an unusually high percentage of outstanding people.

We can remember any time during the past 12 years when so many outstanding persons were offering to serve their community and serve education — and all without pay.

We are not naive enough to believe most of these people want to serve education because everything is fine with campus and curriculum. Rather, some of them are reacting to the storm signals flying over the nation and most of the state, and feel strongly enough to want to use this time and effort to stem the foolishness that has crept into the educational processes.

This is proper because most of the money every homeowner pays in taxes goes to providing education and buildings for same.

Once in a while it appears that the makeup of school boards should be enlarged in order to utilize the abilities of more fine candidates who show up for election.

This year's crop of candidates are like that.

It is therefore with considerable respect and administration that we make these recommendations for school board posts and explain that there are an equal number more who would have been our choice had that many posts been open.

Our choices:

For the La Mesa-Spring Valley Elementary School District Board:

Jim Smith, insurance broker;; Dr. John Todd, physician-surgeon, and Arne Christianson, incumbent.

For the Lemon Grove Elementary School Board:

Harry Buckner, incumbent; Bert R. Cosby, incumbent, and Leonard Klee, civil engineer.

For the Grossmont High School District Board:

Palmer Svalstad, incumbent; Harold Glaeser, Financial plan consultant, and Dr. Vernon Perrigo, physician-surgeon.

For the Grossmont Junior College District Board:

William C. Faulwetter, attorney; Robert J. Rucci, business management, and Karl R. Tuttle, businessman.

Override in the La Mesa-Spring Valley District: Supporters argue strongly that reduced State aid caused the need. That only about half of the 78c increase will be used for a five per cent salary increase for teachers. And that the $2.75 override total is ceiling and the District has never yet used the limit approved by voters.

Criminal Record An Asset?

This column took a good, solid Congressional battering last month after we took a dim view of some of the untidy philosophies enunciated by Democratic Party functionaries during the Johnson regime.

We had reported a speech given at a meeting of the Military Order of the World Wars at which a lawman had decried the diminishing respect many citizens had for laws and for the men who are hired to enforce these laws. Adlai Stevenson was referred to, in the column, as having said "Criminal records will someday be an asset rather than a liability."

The writing attracted the attention and the ire of Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin, a man who is a pretty good representative — except when he becomes obsessed with the divinity of Adlai.

Congressman Van Deerlin fired a letter to us complaining that the reference to Adlai somewhat disturbed him since he "twice supported Mr. Stevenson for the Presidency."

He asked that the statement be documented!

He backed up his squawk with exhibits from the nation's top Adlaiphiles to whom he pleaded for verification that Adlai had never uttered the words accredited to him. From the City University of New York came a response from Arthur Schlesinger who was a top Democratic Party speechwriter and policymaking aide. He wrote Van "Dear Van Deerlin.

"Thank you for your letter. I do not recall that Governor Stevenson ever made such statement as that attributed to him by Max Goodwin . . . at the height of the McCarthy (Joe) period, Governor Stevenson may well have praised the courage of those who challenged McCarthy at the risk of jail sentences; but I have no specific recollection of any language in the form given in the Goodwin column."

From the University of Chicago Press, THE PAPERS OF ADLAI E. STEVENSON, Carol Evans, assistant editor wrote:

"Honorable Lionel Van Deerlin:

"I am sure if Governor Stevenson said what has been attributed to him in your letter that it was quoted completely out of context . . ."

From John Bartlow Martin at Highland Park, Illinois:

"Dear Congressman Van Deerlin:

"Thank you for your letter of Feb. 28. I have not found any such language as you quote in Adlai Stevenson's papers in my research thus far. Should I come across it later on, I should be glad to let you know."

AND HERE'S YOUR ANSWER, MR. CONGRESSMAN . . . From the NEW YORK TIMES, June 8, 1964:

"WATERVILLE, Me. June 7 — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson said today that with American students participating 'in the great struggle to advance civil and human rights, even a jail sentence is no longer a dishonor but a proud achievement.'

"Mr. Stevenson, United States representative at the United Nations, went on 'Perhaps we are destined to see in this law-loving land people running for office not on their stainless records but on their prison records.' "

"The former Governor of Illinois and two-time Democratic nominee for President made the remarks in a speech at commencement ceremonies at Colby College. He was given an honorary degree of doctor of human letters."

Thank you, Mr. Congressman!!

By SCOTT McGAUGH

One problem for many teachers is to present their subject in an interesting manner to the students.

But Mr. Owen Miller, biology teacher at Monte Vista High School solved that recently as he took direction of 20 students on a five-day field trip to the Grand Canyon over Easter Week.

4 Candidates Vie For Board Posts In LG Election

Voters will be able to choose from a list of four announced candidates for the Lemon Grove School Board in the upcoming election April 15.

The candidates, their backgrounds and views follow:

RALPH R. RACHEL, a political science major in college at San Diego State College, has been a social worker in San Diego County since June '67.

He is also a volunteer worker at the Community Crisis Clinic. During college, he was a teacher's assistant.

Rachel believes the major problem in the Lemon Grove School District is the rising cost of education.

He believes the tax override and future bond elections are of utmost importance.

LEONARD L. KLEE — "I have been a homeowner in the Lemon Grove School District for the past twelve years, having moved here from the state of Washington.

I graduated from Washington State College with a degree in Mech. Engineering. I am 48 years of age and employed by the City of San Diego as a Civil Engineer.

I served my country during WWII in the U. S. Coast Guard.

My wife, Evelyn and I have two daughters, Linda Diane, and Carol Jean.

For the past nine years I have held various positions on several PTA executive boards, and I am presently the President of the Lemon Grove Music Parents Club.

Over the years, I have gained valuable experience about our schools, the students, and the community as it relates to education. With this background, it is my belief that I can make a constructive contribution to the district. Thus, I could further an interest I have long held in youth and the future of that youth."

PARTICIPATING IN 'SIGN' DEDICATION — Among those present April 3 for a short ceremony noting the future site of the Spring Valley Y.M.C.A. at San Carlos and Sacramento were from left to right Rev. Marlan Enns, Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh, Spring Valley Postmaster Bill Fitzpatrick, William Moss and Jesse Bailey. Sod has been scraped off leaving the ground bare and exposing the area which will be site of machines and equipment once construction starts.

Sign Goes Up, Ground Is Cleared At Site Of Spring Valley 'Y'

The proposed Spring Valley YMCA took another step forward last Wednesday, April 3.

Earlier in the week one acre plus at Sacramento and San Carlos sts. had been tractored and a sign erected, denoting the site of the YMCA.

On Wednesday approximately 50 persons assembled at the site, including citizens of the Valley and directors of the proposed YMCA to hold a brief "sign" dedication ceremony.

Among those present were Wadie Deddeh, Assemblyman 77th District; Bill Fitzpatrick, Spring Valley Postmaster and president of the Spring Valley Community Council and member of the steering committee; Jesse Bailey, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the proposed YMCA; William Moss, newest Executive member of the Heartland YMCA; Rev. Marlan Enns, manager of Mt. Miguel Covenant Retirement Home, the organization contributing the land; and Stewart Taylor, manager of the South Spring Valley Bank of America and member of the steering committee.

Rev. Enns said two to five acres of land are set aside for the proposed YMCA.

Stewart Taylor welcomed the visitors to the site and introduced those who were to say a few words about the project:

Rev .Enns said now that the land has been cleared and the sign erected "we are closer to the time" of having our own Spring Valley YMCA.

He said there are other such retirement homes in the nation as Mt. Miguel Home. He said these homes have pledged to set aside land for use as a YMCA.

Rev. Enns said one such home in Illinois already has a new YMCA on its land. He said he is confident the time is not too far away when the youth and others of Spring Valley will be enjoying the local YMCA.

Bill Fitzpatrick said he wanted to thank all the people who have helped to date with the project. He appealed for more help to keep the campaign in motion, even if every doorbell in the area is rung. "Let not a shadow fall between us," he pleaded.

Wadie Deddeh said a great thing is going here in Spring Valley, with the proposed YMCA. It will be a great construction for this area, he pointed out. He said Legislature has set aside $389,000 in a budget to help recreation in this area and this means Sweetwater Lake, he pointed out.

Clarence Watters, Chairman of Heartland YMCA, added his enthusiasm and support for the proposed YMCA.

Honor Camp Is Penalty For L.G. Killer

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — William Leo Lejeunesse, 43, of 1817 Dartmoor dr., Lemon Grove, was ordered to county jail/honor camp on Monday by acting Superior Court Judge George Bryans for voluntary manslaugher.

On Christmas of last year, the Lemon Grove man shot and killed George Sidney Weir, 36, of Lakeside, after a struggle in Lejeunesse's home.

Both men worked at National Steel and Shipbuilding Company and Weir had gone to the Lemon Grove house to talk to Lejeunesse, who is known as "Frenchy", about getting on the night shoft.

District Attorney Daniel Fox did not oppose the decision of the judge in sending Lejeunesse to county jail rather than to state prison.

Judge Bryan told Lejeunesse that he was getting a break and that he should take advantage of this by curbing his temper in the future.

Had the district attorney objected, Lejeunesse's sentence might have been to prison because of the rules governing the use of deadly weapons in voluntary manslaughter cases.

The judge said that Lejeunesse cannot possess any firearms during the five year probationary period.

The brief fight happened when Lejeunesse apparently shoved Mrs. Weir twice after they had been dancing.

Lejeunesse hurried to his bedroom, got a .38 caliber pistol, returned to the living room and shot Weir fatally. Weir, however, had armed himself with a .22 caliber rifle that was loaded.

He was not in a position to shoot, apparently, when Lejeunesse opened fire.

Rainfall Total

Rainfall for the season to date has reached 16.05 inches — almost five inches more than the total for the same period last year.

A shower of .09 of an inch fell April 3 and .18 of an inch fell on Easter.

Last year the total on this date was 10.37 inches.

Rainfall seasons starts July 1.

Candidates Seek 3 Board Posts In Grossmont Union H.S. Race

The Grossmont Union High School District Board has three seats to be filled in the upcoming election April 15.

The following is a list of candidates vying for the these positions, and their views on the issues as they see them:

BEVERLY WILCOX, mother of five children, is the Legislative Chairman of the Santana Parent Teachers Association. She is also a member of the Executive Board of the Santee Citizens Planning Committee.

She believes responsibilities of the Board are to help enforce rules established for the welfare of students and to find means of getting the most equipment and teaching facilities for the least cost to the taxpayer.

Although this is his first try for elective public office, DR. DANIEL W. BROWN is currently Medical Consultant to the Helix High PTA and Board Member of Neighborhood Leadship Training.

He served through 1968 with the Citizens Community Action Groups, and has long been active in the San Diego County Medical Society and San Diego Urological Society.

"The drug abuse problem in our community is a matter of deep concern," Brown said. "It has been reported that ours is one of the major problem centers of California. Such a situation suggests that we need to examine our current policies with the objective of gaining new insights and workable solutions.

"I am most anxious to listen to all sides of the matter; for instance, have we truly listened to the parents of student drug abusers in respect to their attitudes? Have we honestly listened to the students themselves? Since they are directly involved, surely their voices should be heard attentively."

FELIX E. DUGGER — Being a college instructor in data processing, Mr. Dugger is acquainted with education and in the past nine years has been very interested and involved in education.

He thinks the narcotics problem is the most important issue in the school district and believes in the present district policy of expulsion.

He has some new ideas, though. He believes in a somewhat revised policy including a citizen advisory council for the offenders in the district.

JOSEPH FAMME, Vice President of Engineering for the Rohr Corporation, is currently on the board of directors of the Lutheran Home of Guiding Hands, the Boy Scout Council and Governor Reagan's committee on Transportation.

"I am concerned about the problems of the interface between the business world and our educational institutions.

"I believe we need to instill pride and discipline in all our areas of the educational process — with more emphasis on vocations — preparing our youth to meet the challenges of today, as well as in the future," he said.

HAROLD R. GLAESAR is 42 years old and has two sons in high school, one in junior high and one in elementary. He is employed as a financial planning consultant and knows the proper use of money. He is a graduate of the University of Buffalo.

He used to be officer of PTA. Currently, he is active in Town Council, Civic groups, Little League and Boy Scouts.

Narcotics is the important issue of the day in the high school district in his opinion. He generally agrees with the current policy but believes first time users of narcotics should require counselling and probation depending on the specific case.

GUY W. JOHNSTON is employed with the First National Bank of Southern California. He has had a good educational background (law degree and also a good business background).

He has the desire to see the quality of the high schools in the district stay as good as it is, and to continue giving the student a good education.

He believes the insufficient tax revenue is the biggest problem in the high school district and that the narcotics problem is overpublicized.

However, he does think the expulsion policy concerning narcotics in the district is too strict for first time offenders and should be modified.

DR. HOMER K. MARCY states his only real qualifications as having children in school and being interested in the school system.

He is in agreement with the narcotics expulsion policy in the high schools but believes it can be improved.

RAYMOND MONCE with 2 children in school, is concerned as a parent about the school district. He has a masters degree in law and currently works at General Dynamics Convair.

"I don't think anybody has the answer," he remarks on the use of narcotics by students and he believes that if one policy is not effective, another should be tried until one does work.

Another large problem in the district is the tax base and getting it to work, he thinks.

THOMAS MURPHY's qualifications are: he is an attorney and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley majoring in law. He also attended UCLA and majored in History. He is an assistant city attorney in El Cajon and a veteran of the Marine Corps.

He believes the most popular but not most important

Eleven Candidates State Views On Issues; Give Backgrounds In Seeking Trustee Posts On Grossmont Junior College District Board

The following candidates are vying for seats on the Grossmont Junior College Board of Trustees. (Some of their views on the issues as they see them are included with brief background information.)

WILLIAM C. FAULWETTER served in the U. S. Navy during the Korean War and is now in the Naval Reserve. He is a member of the La Mesa Rotary Club (board of directors) and is active with the Grossmont District and Boy Scouts.

He believes the most serious problem on the campus is the disorder troubling it. "It is my hope that I will be able to provide some degree of firmness and stability to the administration of Grossmont College," he said.

WALDO L. CLARK has been a Navy Instructor and School Counselor for the past two years. He is now a civilian and a Management Consultant for family business interests.

"Discipline is necessary if the educational program is to be successful. With lack of discipline and basic standards, the educational process will soon deteriorate," he said.

CHARLES DUNBAR, presently a junior in political science at San Diego State College, plans to be a college instructor.

"I feel that I could bring to the Board the new and progressive insights and ideas which are today so urgently needed in our colleges.

"My recent experience at Grossmont College, as well as my present attendance at S.D. State, are the most valuable qualifications that anyone could bring to the governing board," he said.

PAUL G. EPLER is an Anesthesioligist with the anesthesia Service Medical group. He is on the San Diego coordinating committee for United Ministry in Higher Education.

"I am an independent candidate with no prior commitments to any special group. My experience as a member of a large group of medical specialists involves cooperative decision-making; my background of liberal arts and medical degrees has given me broad educational experience.

"These are the special qualifications I bring to the position of trustee on the Board of Governors of Grossmont College," he said.

HAROLD R. GLAESAR, employed as a Financial Planning Consultant, has held various offices in the PTA.

He is vitally interested in maintaining a high scholastic standing for the area's educational institutions to attract industry and research facilities to the Heartland to broaden the tax base and thereby lessen the tax burden of the homeowner.

He wishes to serve on the Board "to help maintain a wholesome campus atmosphere for the serious students so that they will have the maximum educational opportunities."

PAUL T. McDONOUGH, while working as a Deputy Auditor and Controller of San Diego County, became aware of the school district's financing problems.

He is a member of National Association of Accountants, Society of Governmental Accountants, and the California and San Diego County Bar Associations.

"As a person who has received the benefits of education here in San Diego County, and as a person familiar with school district and taxpayer problems, I believe my skills in accounting and law would be of value to our community if you elect me a member of the Grossmont Junior College Board of Trustees," he said.

DALE E. RANDLES, presently manager of Montgomery Ward's Metro warehouse, is also a member of the Lion's Club, Optimists' Club, El Cajon Boys Club, the Heartland Taxpayer's Association and is President of the El Cajon Chamber of Commerce.

Randles believes the students should have representation rights and consultation privileges with the Board by the student government as requested.

"However, students should not be allowed to dictate policies nor interfere with the normal function of the administration, by physical abuse or damaging demonstrations," he said.

RICHARD REYBURN, whose community activities include PTA, Little League, school bond elections and American Field Service, is employed as Assistant Chief Design Engineer for Convair.

"I see our schools, particularly those for higher education, threatened with an era of repression due to over-reaction to the unrest on campuses.

"Violence should be anticipated and prevented. But the right to dissent must be protected, and initiative for social advance must be encouraged," he said.

ROBERT J. RUCCI, employed by Rohr Corporation as a Purchasing Manager for the last 11 years, has also belonged to the Committee for the local chapter of the National Association of Purchasing Management, and chairman of church raising funds.

"I believe it is essential that the Board consider views of the president, administration, and faculty of the college. The views of the students must also be weighed.

"I don't see how you can operate a college for the objectives that we agree on without knowing how the students feel and think," Rucci said.

'Professor And Prophets' Film To Test Bible Prophesy With Scientific Methods

"The Professor and the Prophets," a Moody Institute of Science film, is scheduled to be shown at the Spring Valley Friends Community Church, Kenwood and Bancroft drs., at 7 p.m. on April 13.

The public is cordially invited, says Pastor Virgil Simpson.

Regarding the film, it has been pointed out that few topics have so teased and tanalized mankind as the question, Can the future be predicted?

Many have come forward to claim that the power is theirs, that their eyes could see beyond today and into tomorrow.

But when put to scientific tests, these claims have failed to stand up.

In the Moody Institute of Science film, "The Professor and the Prophets," scientific tests are applied to Bible prophesy.

Dr. Irwin A. Moon and mathematician Professor Peter Stoner examine a number of famous Bibleland cities.

Together, they view time-bruised Jerusalem, the rock-hewn valley of Petra, the tarnished glories of Babylon, the lost fortress of Tyre.

What are the prophecies about these places? Did they come true?

These questions were answerde by Dr. William Culbertson in an earlier Moody film, "The Stones Cry Out." But in "The Professor and the Prophets," an additional question is considered: Could the accuracy of the Bible prophecy be due merely to human guesswork rather than divine inspiration?

Cosby, Buckner And Klee Backed By L.G. Group

An organization working in the interests of Lemon Grove School Board incumbents Bert Cosby and Warren Buckner, and promoting the candidacy of Leonard L. Klee, who seeks the third post to be filled, was anounced this week. Chairman of the group which calls itself "Committee to Keep Good Schools" is Mrs. Leonard W. Hansell. Secretary is Mrs. James C. Sanchez.

Approximately fifty citizens, mostly parents of students enrolled in Lemon Grove schools, are promoting the Klee - Cosby - Buckner slate.

Officers of the committee stated that because Leonard Klee, running for the seat soon to be vacated by Thomas Higdon, is not an incumbent, particular emphasis would be placed upon informing registered voters of his background, qualifications, and educational philosophy.

Mrs. Hansell stated that Klee is a twelve year resident and homeowner in Lemon Grove and his children have attended or are now attending local schools. A civil engineer, Klee has been active for years in school, church, and community activities. He currently serves as president of the Lemon Grove Music Parents Club.

"Our first concern," she stated," is that our children receive the best education possible. The current board members are doing an admirable job. Because Mr. Higdon did not run for another term, we wish to see that post on the board assumed by an equally interested and responsible citizen."

Food For Thought

By Lee Lyon

Essayist Charles Dudley Warner once observed. "Lettuce is like conversation: It must be fresh and crisp, so sparkling that you scarcely notice the bitter in it."

Freeze leftover sauce or vegetables right in the pot. Then remove, wrap and return to freezer. The food will retain the right shape to thaw and cook in the same pot later.

When in a pinch, remember you can substitute a pinch of parsley for chervil, nutmeg for mace or oregano for marjoram.

Try simmering the sauerkraut in beer for a tasty accompaniment to roast pork. Don't forget the applesauce.

Benjamin Franklin said it: "Wine is constant proof that God loves to see us happy."

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What was one of Junipero Serra's favorite expressions in Spanish? Was he Spanish or Mexican? Did he speak Spanish after he came to California?

Junipero Serra had many favorite sayings. One of the most popular expressions he used in his vocabulary and method of speech was "La carne es flaca y el espiritu esta pronto." This expression could not be interpreted in a literal sense. It may be more easily understood when it is broken down into two separate parts.

The first part "La carne es flaca" might be interpreted as "The meat is skinny." However, in the earlier Spanish idioms it meant "The flesh is weak." In this particular usage the word "carne" takes the meaning of "flesh" and the word "flaca" which usually means "lank", "lean" or "skinny" takes the meaning "weak."

The second part of the phrase, "y el espiritu esta pronto," also requires a special translation. The most difficult to interpret is the manner in which the word "pronto" is used. In present day Spanish we think of this word having the meaning, "soon." This is not the case in the Spanish used over two hundred years ago, at least, in the idiomatic sense. The earlier meaning for this word was "willing."

A combination of the two parts of this favorite phrase of Serra would give us the expression "The flesh is weak and the spirit is willing."

Grand Canyon Trip

room and to sample the environment" according to Mr. Miller.

And sample it they did. Living on dehydrated food for three days and hiking anywhere from 20 to 35 miles with 20 to 35 pound packs, the students encountered everything from bats to coyotes, and temperatures ranging from 16 degrees at night to 80 degrees in the daytime.

As far as souveniers brought home, over 60 blisters were picked up by the hikers.

It wasn't the usual "run-of-the-mill" trip either. Places such as Timbuktu, the Alamo River, Hope, Aguila, Hell Canyon, Congress Junction, and Little Hell Canyon suffered the invasion of 20 students and 5 parent-drivers.

The group left as early as 5 a.m. Saturday and camped near the rim that night with the temperature dipping to 16 degrees. Sunday they hiked to Phantom Ranch and tried to ward off the coming blisters.

They started up Monday and camped halfway at Indian Gardens with one small group making it all the way to the top in one day.

The rest came up Tuesday and camped at Oak Creek Canyon.

"My feet are killing me," was the most common complaint during the day while "Oh, my aching shoulders and legs," was a close second when the students would wake up anywhere between 4:30 and 6 a.m.

Chicken a la king, macaroni and cheese, beef stroganoff, pudding, chicken soup, pancakes, eggs, and bacon were eaten with everything being dehydrated to reduce weight.

But even through the hardships they endured, the humor of the group never let up. In fact, the perfect thought for a sign on the road approaching the canyon was thought of by one weary hiker: "Dip Ahead."

Hiking in a canyon isn't going to the beach every day during the vacation, but ask any of the hikers and they'll tell you that it sure beats textbook tests and homework.

Lawyer/Builder Starts 46-Homes on Golden

— Grading work was started on a 46-home project here this week. The homes, all in the $24,000 price range, will have three or four bedrooms.

Hatfield

Developer of the project is a 34-year old La Mesa attorney turned contractor, Guy Hatfield.

The houses will be constructed in an area between Golden and Roy avenues, in Lemon Grove and the development will be known as Lemon Meadows.

The houses will have three different floor plans and 12 different exteriors — all having 1,200 - 1,300 square feet of space.

Hatfield, 34 attorney, developer, head of Hatfield Homes, said the project would represent $1,300,000. He said that a study showed that homes of the quality he plans to build are sorely needed here.

Hatfield recently phased out of the law field to enter contracting full time. He has built more than 70 homes in the College, Mt. Helix and Clairemont areas during the past two years.

He is a member of the San Diego Bar and the San Diego Building Contractors associations.

Pool Planned For Handicapped

Children at the Revere Development Center for Handicapped Minors will get a therapeautic swimming pool in the near future, according to Milton Blackstone, President of Friends of the Handicapped Children, a recently formed association dedicated to aiding handicapped children.

At the last Executive Board meeting at th University Club, it was unanimously voted to conduct the "pool" fund raising campaign with a "Celebrity Auction" at one of San Diego's leading shopping centers in the fall. In the interim, it was also decided to present a "Benefit Attraction" in July.

The Revere Development Center for Handicapped Minors is a daily program for severly retarded and multiply handicapped children in Linda Vista. Authorities in like situations have found that swimming and therapeutic pools along with other recreational facilities, are a great stimulus to learning as well as physical development. These conclusions prompted the Friends of the Handicapped Children organization to undertake this project.

The Friends of the Handicapped Children are seeking additional members and those interested may join by sending $2 to Mr. Carl Davis c/o Revere Development Center Gifford way, San Diego., Ca. 92111.

Monte Vista Baseball

By SCOTT McGAUGH

Those "in the know" at Monte Vista High School, figured a lack of offense to be the major obstacle for a successful season for the Monarch horsehiders.

Yet the Monarchs have exploded for 25 runs in their last four games while picking up 46 base hits and belting six home runs.

And with their pitching remaining steadfast, the Monarchs were tied for first place in the Grossmont League at the end of last week's action.

Participating in the 19th Annual Lions Baseball Tournament, the Monarchs knocked off Marian, 7-4, and Castle Park, 9-4, before being nudged by Grossmont League rival Santana, 3-1.

The Monarchs were 2-0 in League battle on the strength of a 8-4 clubbing of Grossmont just before Easter Vacation.

In the Grossmont battle, Monarch Doug Miller hit his first of three home runs in three consecutive games while winning pitcher Paul Loop went 2-for-4 and picked up 3 RBI's.

In their tournament opener against Marian, the Monarchs broke the game open with 4 runs in the third and one more in the fourth.

Roger Sommers "hit for the cycle" as he collected a single, double, triple, and home run. He drove in two runs.

Monte Vista then stretched their winning streak to four by whipping the Castle Park Trojans, 9-4.

Winning pitcher Jack Welty went 5 innings plus while striking out seven and walking two for the win.

Nathan Meckel picked up three hits in four appearances and drove in one while Doug Miller did the same only picking up four RBI's.

There the Monarch winning streak came to a screeching halt as they were held to just three hits in losing to the Santana Sultans, 3-1.

Four errors were committed by the Monarchs as Paul Loop went all the way for the Monarchs as he struck out five and walked but just one.

Monte Vista will travel to Indian country April 11 as they take on the El Cajon Braves in a 3 p.m. game on the Braves' diamond.

L.G. Fire Dept. Calls

Two engine companies and 15 firemen of the Lemon Grove Fire Department answered a call at 1:19 p.m. on April 2 to a house fire at the L. T. Wagner home, 2061 Dayton st.

According to the fire department report approximately $9,000 damage was done to the Wagner house and furnishings and some damage was done to the next door house. Cause of the fire was burning incense in a bedroom, which ignited the room and the rest of the house followed.

The fire spread to the neighboring house which was slightly burned. Two young girls were at home when the fire started, the report stated.

College Leaders To View Sino-Soviet Border Conflict

An interpretation of Sino-Soviet relations, including the current border conflict, will be presented Monday at 5:30 when the University of Redlands conducts an Impact program for alumni, parents and friends in the San Diego area.

Leading the seminar will be Dr. Winberg Chai, assistant professor of international relations at the University, and Dr. John Watt, director of international programs at Johnston College, which will open next fall as the first cluster college on the Redlands campus.

The evening program will take place in the Le Baron Hotel, Mission Valley.

Dr. Chai, who was born in China, is the co-author of several books and articles on China, including "The Changing Society of China," and "Sino-Soviet Relations, a Documentary History." His Ph.D. is from New York University with emphasis in comparative government, international relations and Far Eastern history.

The $5 per person program includes dinner.

The Impact programs, now in their eighth year, are aimed at taking the University into various communities to give alumni and parents a continuing educational experience. In recent months similar programs have been held in Pasadena, San Jose, San Francisco and Orange County.

Grossmont Union High School District School Board Candidates

problem in the high schools is the narcotics problem. He believes in an expulsion policy that is flexible and more individualized.

He thinks the most important problem is maintaining the excellence of the school district. He would strive to see that the problems of student rebellion and such in college will not transfer itself to the high schools.

KEN OVERSTREET, who was recently selected as one of the ten outstanding young men of San Diego, has been active in working with young people in the community for twelve years.

"I believe that we must have a very positive position in regard to the drug problem among our teenagers. I believe that we must give ample study to the rehabilitation of young people who have been expelled but who wish to be helped," he said.

DR. VERNON F. PERRIGO has been in the practice of medicine in El Cajon for the past 18 years. He belongs to the Masonic and Elks Lodge, Fletcher Hills Lions Club, and American Legion.

Concerning the present narcotics expulsion policy in the high school district, he believes there are two sides.

It is good for the students in school and bad for those expelled.

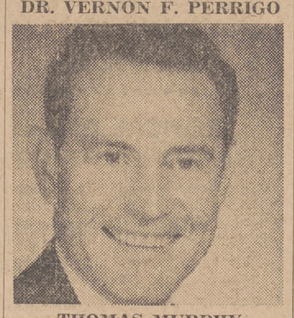
He believes the treatment or control of a drug abuser is entirely a family problem, as that is the money source that pays for the drugs.

CHARLES STERING is presently in the U. S. Navy. He and his wife, Margaret have three children.

"The drug problem in the high schools cannot have a hard, fast rule applied to it. Each case must be considered individually.

"Drug abuse can only be overcome by concentrated effort by both parents and the community," he said.

DR. VERNON F. PERRIGO



THOMAS MURPHY

JAMES G. STIERINGER is employed as a Contract Administrator for Robert McMullan & Son Inc., and San Diego contractor.

"I favor continuation of the current 'hard line' policy regarding expulsion for marijuana, dangerous drugs, or narcotics involvement. The expulsions are based on the duty of the Board to protect the vast majority of students who obey the law and who exercise common sense by not associating with their less circumspect schoolmates."

PALMER R. SVALSTAD has been on the board for 15 years and is seeking reelection.

"I am a strong supporter of the expulsion policy," he said, concerning the narcotics problem in high schools today.

"I have a strong feeling toward need of aiding the students that do not have the cooperation of parents," he said.

ARTHUR F. THOMPSON, has been endorsed by Incumbent trustee Robert P. Dryden who believes he "will be a steady influence on the Board." He has also received the endorsement of retiring board president Rexford Hall.

"I plan to present a program which would develop the aspect of 'Community college.' This is a plan of 'creative education' which would bridge the communication gap existing between campus and community and business, for their mutual benefit," Thompson said.

KARL R. TUTTLE, President of the Cameo Janitorial & Paper Co., is also President of the University High School Fathers Board, and former Mayor of El Cajon.

"My experience as Mayor of El Cajon and service in the Air Force have given me the realization that the primary attribute I should and do have, is the ability to listen — listen to the administration staff, the teachers, the students and the general public," he said.

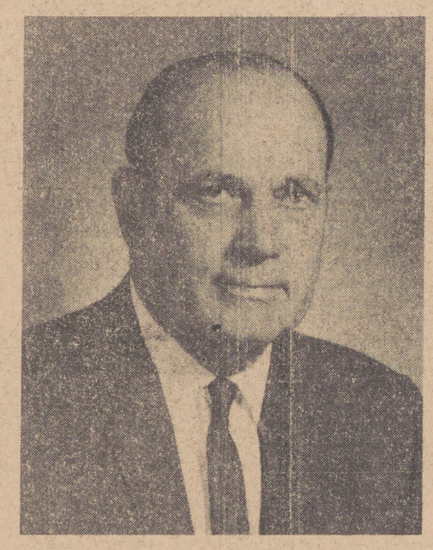
Vote For Continuing Progress On April 15



As a resident of La Mesa for 28 years, I have had a long and continued interest in the Grossmont Union High School District. All four of my children graduated from Grossmont High School.

The Grossmont School District has been fortunate in having an excellent school administration with very dedicated teachers, supported by an efficiently operated business office.
Students today are under tremendous pressures to go on to college, as though they would be failures in life without it. I believe this is untrue.
There needs to be more emphasis placed on vocational and technical training for the 50 percent of our students who will not go on to college.
I would firmly support the development of a Polytechnic Institute for our district.
My 35 years in industry, which covers both technical and managerial responsibilities, will enable me to contribute to the solution of problems facing our district.
I will spend the time and energy needed to be an effective member of the Grossmont Union High School District Governing Board.

4 Candidates In Race

HARRY W. BUCKNER, an incumbent, has been a resident of Lemon Grove for fifteen years, and has served on the school board for twelve years.

He is also a member of the California School Board Association Delegate Assembly and the State Finance Committee.

He is employed at the Convair division of General Dynamics/Astronautics.

Buckner has four children, all attending high school and college.

Concerning narcotics in the schools, he is not in agreement with the Grossmont Policy (expulsion policy) and believes violators should be treated on an individual basis within the individual schools.

Incumbent BERT R. COSBY is employed as a supervisor with the Pacific Telphone & Telegraph Co. He is a member of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club, the L.G. Masonic Lodge and has served on the Board of Trustees of the Lemon Grove School District for 15 years.

He is presently serving his fourth term as President of the Board.

Regarding the problems of inadequate income to meet the rising costs of the district and crowded classrooms with heavier class enrollment forecasted for the next 4 to 5 years, Cosby believes solutions will be found through study of budget requests and determining that available classroom space is properly utilized.

FOR YOUNGSTERS

U. S. Savings Stamps — sold at post offices and through the School Savings Program — are an important part of the nationwide Savings Bonds Program. Encourage your youngsters to develop the habit of thrift by buying Savings Stamps which they may exchange for Bonds when they accumulate the price of a Bond.

Carpet Worth $850 Is Stolen

Two rolls of carpet valued at approximately $850 were stolen the night of March 31 from a construction site of Taylor's Carpet Co. in Lemon Grove.

The construction site was at crossroads of San Miguel and Bonita in Lemon Grove.

Each roll of carpet weighed 500 to 600 pounds according to information received by sheriff's deputies.

Land Developer Sees Need For New Recreational Lakes

Whether ocean, stream, lake or river, water is the star on the marquee of the outdoor recreation theatre, reports the Federal Government's Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission.

Wherever you go today for outdoor recreation, it is almost a certainty that water will play the role as the greatest attraction.

Predicting 1969 as a bonanza year for water-oriented recreation, the Commission says that people who will take to the trails and highways this year will seek water to fulfill their expectations of the outdoor environment

And billions of dollars will be poured into the economy as this huge army of vacationing families select resorts, parks, campgrounds and recreational vehicle parks—near the water.

Water is needed for swimming, which the U. S. Government says is rapidly becoming the biggest outdoor sport, fishing, waterskiing, boating, camping, picnicking, or just to walk near and observe.

"The prospect of sufficient water-oriented resources to handle the approximately 3 million annual population growth in the United States is more remote than ever," reports W. Gordon Heath, president of the Corona Land Co., developers of the $45 million Canyon Lake family recreation community in Riverside County in Southern California.

"On a past summer Southern California weekend, as an example, there were 80,000 persons on the beaches. Marinas are loaded to capacity, with many having waiting lists that are in excess of the number of boatslips they have.

"At the end of 1969, statistics show that Americans will own 2 million recreational vehicles, which will take them into areas that only a few years ago went begging for attention.

"Everyone is rushing out of the cities for recreation, and the path leads to water. The problem is that there isn't enough of it to accommodate this vast audience, determined to enjoy water-sports at the fullest.

"Hundreds of thousands of persons are disappointed and rebuffed by the mobs ahead of them, and as this situation is magnified in the years ahead by the increase in a water - oriented vacationing population, it is evident that America is in for a serious drain and atrophy of its recreational resources."

Heath said the U. S. Government should invite the guidance and assistance of private enterprise to help in the monumental task of creating a network of new recreational lakes in the United States as one of the answers to the problem.

He said another answer is the development of private family communities, oriented to water recreation, as portrayed in his 2,017 acre Canyon Lake project.

"The family recreational community is tremendously popular," said Heath, "but it should be a masterplanned approach, with many attractions to initiate and maintain confidence of the community's population."

He said it is more than just a land development around a lake; it is installing those amenities that any water-oriented community requires.

He pointed to Caanyon Lake, 20 miles southeast of Corona, Calif., as one of the principal exhibits in the case of proper masterplanning.

While lots around and near the 383-acre lake were being sold, the masterplan called for the construction of a country general store, lodge, beaches, marinas and paved roads. The project, now over 52% sold out, already has these facilities.

"People," he says, "who come out to look at land see the unfolding of the masterplan with the actual existence of the $550,000 Canyon Lodge, the Country General Store the marina, beaches and paved roads.

"As others look at Canyon Lake this spring, they will see that the 18-hole P.G.A. golf course and equestrian center are under construction, more roads being paved, more marinas and beaches, and other installations to add to their outdoor pleasures . . ."

"Developing land without mind or care of a masterplan is immoral and a tragic economic waste.

"It became more apparent that pure conservation is not the answer; it is the scientific development of conservation. You can build a recreational community, where young couples invest in their own recreational future, and provide them with the utilities for recreation, and you can still have conservation.

"Conservation, in my opinion, is not letting land remain dormant and unused, or permitting the public in essence to decree its own use of land. But if you masterplan it and make the public a part of this careful exercise in controls and covenants, the land use is just as good a century from now as it is today."

Heath said it will take scores of recreational communities like Canyon Lake to handle the multitudes who desire an outdoor environment.

He said, "Think of the 40 million persons who participated last year in boating activities and who spent about $3 billion for equipment, food and lodging. Think of the 8 million boats in America, seven million of which are outboards.

"Consider the eight million waterskiers whose ranks are increasing by nearly one million a year. And consider the 23 million licensed fishermen who last year spent nearly $3 billion on equipment, licenses, lodging and food.

"Add to these masses the many other water-oriented sports, and it isn't difficult to understand why the resources are over-powered and why areas to enjoy the sports are on any weekend likened to the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day."

Heath feels the solution to America's recreational problems lies strictly in the masterplanning of the remaining recreational land resources.

The key, he says, is water.

And, he believes, if you make the average American an owner of this outdoor potential, he isn't as prone to leave the residue of his presence, such as empty beer cans, trash and other wastes of his affluent society.

Rodeo To Return

One of the country's largest indoor rodeos, the Pacific Indoor Rodeo, returns to the San Diego International Sports Arena for a third successful appearance May 9, 10, and 11.

"The three-day event promises to be an excitement-filled treat for the youngsters who will see a special guest appearance of 'Gunsmoke's' Festus Haggen," said Lex Connelly, producer. "Children will also enjoy the antics of Jay Sisler's trained dogs."

The rodeo will begin at 8 p.m. May 9 and 10 and at 6 p.m. May 11. Tickets will be available at all Highlander Men's Stores, all Metro Ticket Agencies and the Arena Box Office. For further information, call 224-4176.

Clean Water Contest

The National Water Institute has launched a clean waters program that includes a 100 word clean waters "Writeway" contest, open to young people and adults. Entries may include ideas on what communities as well as individual sportsmen and their organizations can do about cleaning up U. S. waters.

The contest closes May 15 and there will be 28 prizes. Send entries to National Water Institute, Room 1250, 420 Lexington ave., New York, N.Y., 10017.

DISCUSS FIELD IMPROVEMENTS — Jim Jordan, president of the Spring Valley Pony League points out the next planned areas for improvement on ball field to league treasurer Bud Payne. They stand next to cement bleacher foundations which are soon to be completed. New bleachers will accommodate 120 fans. The 68 cement blocks on the exposed ends of the bleachers are being sold for $1.00 apiece and the person who donates will have his name inscribed on the block he purchases. Concession stand-scorers' booth in the background has been newly tiled and is to be painted. Other improvements slated for the field behind St. Sophia church include building of a new fence and installation of a new scoreboard. All is planned to be in readiness for May 4 opener. And a three-flag flagpole is also to be installed. The U.S., California and S.D. 200th flags will fly from the pole.
